Heart of a Champion

The Cumberland County Historical Society is proud to present our latest exhibition "Heart of a Champion: Sports in Cumberland County". From early Native Americans to modern athletes, CCHS examines how sports evolved due to technology, social movements, popular culture, and economic development.

Sports play an important role in American society. They enjoy tremendous popularity but more importantly, they are vehicles for transmitting values, ideals, and a sense of community. Today, sports are just another part of our daily lives. It is easy to forget that just 120 years ago, many of the sports we take for granted did not yet exist or may barely be recognizable to the modern audience. These games evolved from entertainment and leisurely activities into an industry rivaling any other in size and power.

With that change came an increase in influence. Sports over the last hundred years have affected modern popular culture and often reflected changing social attitudes and standards. Sports have also seen advances in performance and achievements, reflecting the commitment by athletes to excellence and technological innovation to help records be broken.

The Cumberland County Historical Society has endeavored to celebrate the athletic achievements of our local community members. Individuals featured in this exhibit are just a small sample of the incredible athletic talent that has developed and grown in Cumberland County.

“Heart of a Champion” is open through the end of the year at CCHS.
